

Surveillance: Articles of Interest

A Current Review of Journal Literature from the NUHS Library

January 2015, Volume 10, Issue 1

This listing is intended to keep you aware of journal articles which might be relevant to your education and practice. Each month we will use PubMed to identify practical articles and significant research studies published during that month and identified as being available free full text.

Hyperlinks to the PDF full text will be provided when available but some publishers might not provide permanent hyperlinks. Please note: some hyperlinks might not work with a Safari browser, especially older versions. Also, the hyperlinked article titles should provide a secondary access to the full text.

If you encounter problems, please contact the Reference Librarian for assistance at reference@nuhs.edu

In addition to these articles, please remember that NUHS is the publisher of these major chiropractic journals:

Journal of Chiropractic Humanities: all articles are free full-text
